Sports Week 2025

Sports Week 2025 began on 23rd April, at 11 am, with the official opening ceremony. A total of thirteen games were announced, with both male and female teams in enthusiastic participation. Players participated in hockey, table tennis, lawn tennis, cricket, football/futsal, volleyball, basketball, tug of war and chess.

The female Humanities' teams really gave their all and rocked the battlefield, securing multiple wins for the department.

Teams from all the departments competed to show their vigor and spirit. Alas, the General Trophy was won by the Management Sciences department, with a total of 170 points.

Table Tennis: Smash Hit Showdown

Team Captain Aleena Faisal, led the game. The Humanities Department Female Table Tennis team claimed victory over Computer Science, showcasing skill, strategy, and precise reflexes. Their sharp plays and determination led them to a well-earned win, reinforcing their competitive spirit and teamwork.

Spiking Excitement: Dive into the Thrilling World of Volleyball

During COMSATS Sports Week 2025, the spotlight firmly rested on the Humanities Department's Female Volleyball Team. With unmatched teamwork and determination, they powered through every round—defeating Architecture in the opening match, outplaying Economics in the semifinals, and clinching the championship against Management Sciences. Their performance was a masterclass in precision, strength, and unity.

CHAMPIONS

Volleyball is where the ball flies, but teamwork makes it soar.

EMAN KHAN (Captain, Humanities Volleyball FEMALE Team):

"We played every match with heart and unity. Winning the championship means everything—not just for us, but for every girl on campus who wants to shine in sports. We proved that teamwork, determination, and passion can lead to greatness. This victory is ours, and it's just the beginning."

FURQAN KHAN (Captain, Humanities Volleyball MALE Team):

"It was tough watching the finals from the stands this year. We gave our best, but the female teams—especially Humanities—were on another level. They absolutely deserved the win. It's a wake-up call for us to train harder and come back stronger next year. Hats off to them."

Notably, no male team secured a volleyball title this year—only the female teams emerged victorious. The Humanities team's triumph stood as the sole win in volleyball, making their victory not just a departmental achievement but a defining highlight of the entire Sports Week.

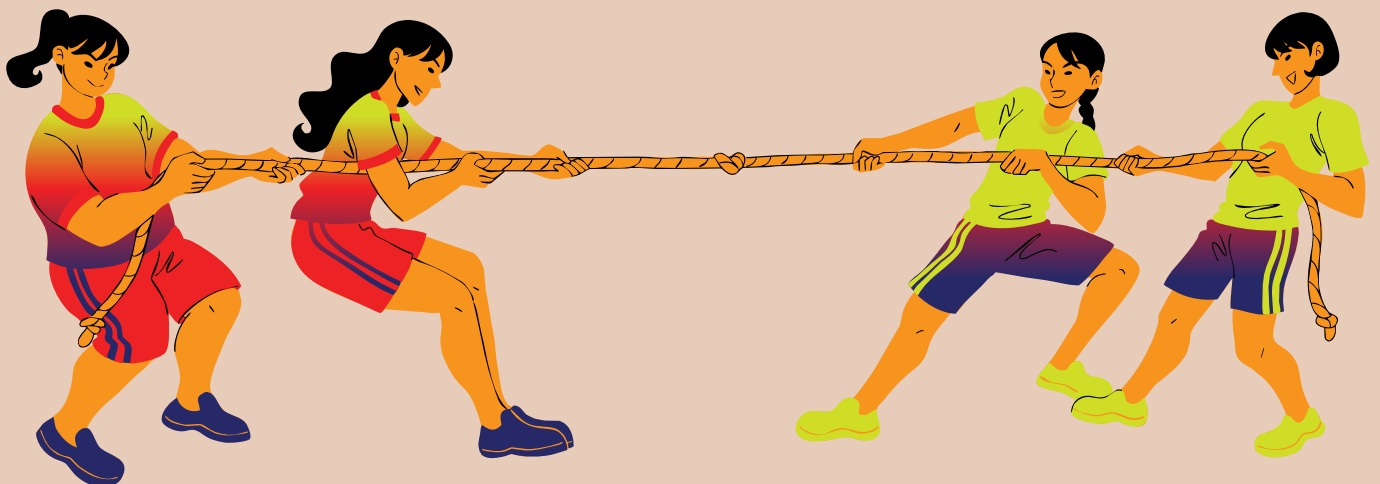

Battle of Strength : The Ultimate Tug of War Challenge

Opponent Team in Finals: Department of Biosciences

The female team had a remarkable journey through the rounds, displaying grit and teamwork. However, in the final match against the Biosciences department, they faced a tough contest and unfortunately lost, securing the position of runners-up.

Remarks: The final match was a highlight of the event, showcasing the determination and sportsmanship of both teams. The female team was applauded for their spirited performance throughout the tournament.

Futsal :

High Intensity Game, Sharpening Skills And Speed

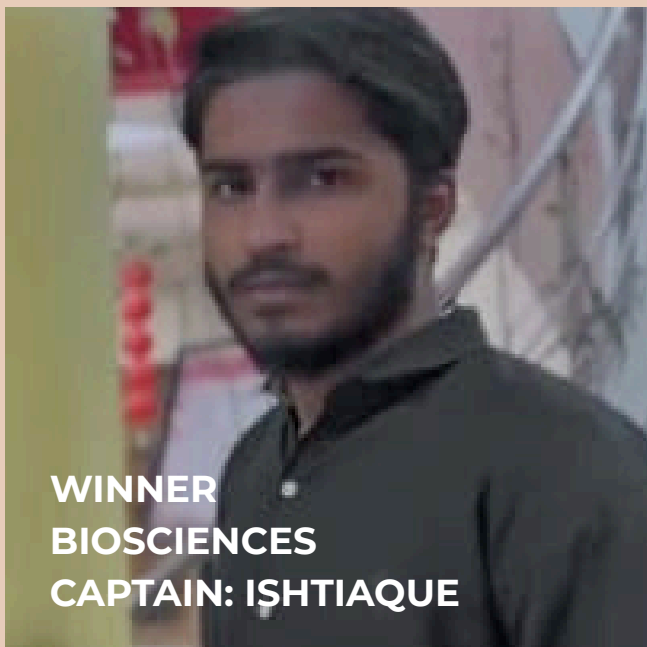

Hadia Amir (captain - futsal female team)

The Humanities Department's female futsal team put up a strong fight against Management Sciences but finished as runners-up. Their skill, teamwork, and determination shone throughout the match, proving their competitive spirit. Though they fell just short of victory, their performance was inspiring—setting the stage for an even stronger comeback next year.

Ali Abdullah (captain- football male team)

The men's football team showed incredible skill and determination, playing with heart and sportsmanship. Though they didn't secure a top spot, their passion and teamwork left a lasting impact, setting the stage for future success.

Chess: Master The Board, Conquer The Mind

In a thrilling chess match, the biosciences team triumphed over the humanities team. The biosciences team showcased their strategic and analytical skills, while the humanities team employed critical thinking and interpretative abilities. The event highlighted the diverse skill sets of both departments, emphasizing that strategic thinking and adaptability are vital for success. Ultimately, the competition fostered camaraderie and mutual respect between the teams.

Cricket : Where Passion Meets Precision On Pitch

CRICKET

Daniyal Khan (Captain, Male Cricket Team)

Neha Riaz (Captain, Female Cricket Team)

The men's and women's cricket teams played with passion, skill, and unwavering determination. Though they didn't claim victory, their teamwork and resilience made every match a triumph in its own way. This season was a stepping stone, building towards future success with valuable experience and unwavering sportsmanship.

Women in Sports: Raising the Bar High

The female futsal, basketball, and cricket teams all showcased exceptional determination and team spirit throughout their respective tournaments. Each squad demonstrated skill and resilience, navigating through challenging rounds with commendable performances. Though some fell just short in their final matches; each facing strong opposition, they earned well-deserved runner-up positions in their events. Their journeys stand as a testament to their hard work, unity, and competitive spirit.

Triumph in Team Spirit: Celebrating the Journey

Tug of War

Opponent Team: Department of Economics

Outcome:

The male team faced a strong challenge from the Economics department. Despite their efforts, they were defeated in their very first match, marking an early exit from the competition.

Captain's Remarks:

The match was intense and drew a large crowd of spectators. The Economics team demonstrated impressive coordination and strength.

Additionally, this setback can strengthen the resolve and camaraderie among team members, motivating them to work harder and come back stronger in future competitions.

Cricket

The early exit of the male cricket team in the first round of a tournament can be a moment of disappointment, yet it also serves as a crucial learning experience. Such outcomes often prompt teams to conduct in-depth analyses of their performance, examining everything from individual skills to team dynamics and strategy.

Paying Homage To Our Graduates and Making Way For The Future

Our graduates have helped shape the society into what it is today, and it is no small feat. They have worked passionately whether it be in the capacity of a player on the field, or as office bearers leading the organization and management of the Humanities Sports Teams. We are grateful for their enthusiasm, their devotion and their sense of responsibility. Our cheers will guide them wherever they choose to go, through whatever challenge they come across. Wishing them the best of luck with their future endeavours !
