Foreword

The higher education landscape is continuously changing; more so in the Islamic world in the recent decades. COMSATS Institute of Information Technology (CIIT) understands that in today's globalized world, no organization including Higher Education Institutions (HEIs) can function, prosper or even survive in isolation. It is important that they establish linkages with the world outside. In order to provide medium to such linkages, channels of communication and networks have to be devised and instituted. CIIT has always vied to play its role in promoting international relations and communication to bring the partners and stakeholders together.

Realizing this fact, the CIIT in collaboration with the Islamic Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (ISESCO), Higher Education Commission, Pakistan; the Ministry of Science and Technology, Government of Pakistan; and Federation of the Universities of the Islamic World (FUIW) is organizing a 2-Day Vice Chancellors' Forum on Higher Education in the Islamic World: Challenges and Opportunities (Forum). It gives me immense pleasure to host the august, memorable and historical event of this stature. It is expected that the Forum would provide an excellent opportunity to those participating in promoting linkages among them and their respective institutions.

The booklet in your hand is an effort to help identify prospective partners.

I wish success to our modest endeavors.

The University of Nyala, as been located in the border of the Islamic world and the Non-Muslim majority countries of the Central African region, has always tried to open horizons of understanding between the two entities. The idea is to build a platform for cooperation between a group of Universities from the Islamic World and a group of Universities from the Central Africa region to create a new University with inputs from all partner Universities. This proposed university will be hosted in one of the African Non-Muslim majority countries, Central African Republic for example (they proposed a Chinese African University, we have discussed it with them and proposed some of our partner Universities). It is expected to promote understanding between black Africa and the Islamic World as students from all over the partner countries can study in this university and enjoy exchange possibilities with mother Universities.
