

Prof. Dr. Hashim Ali Mohamed Salem

Vice Chancellor

Sudan University of Science and Technology

Sudan

<http://www.sustech.edu/>

Prof. Dr. Hashim Salem currently serves as the Vice Chancellor of one of the largest Sudanese universities, Sudan University of Science and Technology (SUST), the most prestigious and largest national University in Sudan that offers bachelors, masters and PhD degree programs in science, engineering and technology disciplines to nearly seventy thousand students enrolled in more than 200 academic programs. Prof. Hashim holds a Ph.D degree in textile engineering from the University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia

Before his current position Dr. Hashim has held various academic appointments over the last decade at the SUST. Mr. Hashim has several patents in the field of Tissue Engineering; he contributed to the development of many mechanisms in the field of Textile Engineering. He is a member of a number of academic and professional bodies. Prof. Hashim has worked as a national consultant for the United Nations Development Programme in Sudan. He also worked as a consultant for a number of factories of leather, plastic, fabric. Mr. Hashim has contributed for curriculum development and training in area of Textile Engineering. Prof. Hashim also chaired several national academic and technical committees.

Panel Discussion – 2: Sustainable Higher Education Systems